Dear [REDACTED],

EIR Reference: EIR/ID/321

Thank you for reaching out with your request! We appreciate your interest, and we want to let you know that your request has been carefully considered in accordance with the Environmental Information Regulations (EIR).

Thank you for your email detailing the £13 billion you are planning to spend on improvements. How much of this £13 billion will be for new water capture projects such as reservoirs?

Thank you for your enquiry about our investment plan for 2025 to 2030. The £13 billion of investment will deliver improvements to both our wastewater and water services. Our five-year investment plan is supported by our long-term Water Resources Management Plan 2024 (WRMP24), which sets out our strategy to achieve a long-term, best value, and sustainable water supply in the Northwest from 2025 to 2085. Our plan identified activities to reduce water demand (for example reducing water lost through leaking pipes and deploying smart water meters) as the best value options to invest in to achieve a sustainable future water supply. Therefore, our plan does not require any investment in the construction of new water supply sources during the next five years. We prepare a WRMP every five years and reassess what the best value water resource options are to invest in as part of this process. You can read more about our new Water Resources Management Plan 2024 at <https://www.unitedutilities.com/corporate/about-us/our-future-plans/water-resources/developing-our-water-resources-management-plan/>
